Code of Ethics to Check Malpractices and Plagiarism in Research

Our College strictly follows the research ethics, and the entire faculty needs to stick to them. The said guidelines stand as key factor and driving force for our staff and students. Keeping in view that research is a tool to enhance and upgrade lives of all sections of society; we as a team are striving hard to do our best.

Ethics and plagiarism are the significant components in research and publications. Sometimes, it is observed that researchers claim others' work as their own, which degrades the reputation of the individual as well as of the Institution. Especially, the research work of faculty/UG students in the form of papers/projects must go through the process of check for plagiarism. We aim to maintain high academic standards to ensure that the work is at par with the national / international standards. Any violation of the rules or complaints regarding plagiarism attracts disciplinary action by the Committee.

The students and faculty are expected to adhere to the following guidelines:

- The research must have well defined objectives and aims.
- The research must be thought provoking, analytical and apt to execution.
- The research areas should, directly or indirectly, support students and faculty.
- The research must be genuine and practically worth pursuing
- The researching staff and students must take prior permission from the respective Departments and their Heads. (i.e. take guidance and support from the authorities).
- The researcher should provide concrete evidence in support of aims and objectives of their respective topics.
- The researcher should do SWOC analysis.
